

EDIBLE ENTERTAINMENT AT FALMOUTH ART GALLERY

FALMOUTH WEEK ACTIVITIES, 9 – 16 AUGUST

YOU can eat your hat – literally – at Falmouth Art Gallery this Falmouth Week with the return of the eat art workshops. The gallery will be working with poet and artist Sally Crabtree to stage FREE family workshops all themed around the current 'Boy who bit Picasso' exhibition. Some come along for some incredible edible entertainment that will tickle your creativity.... and your taste buds!

On Saturday 9 August from 3 – 5 pm we will be making Picasso inspired masks to wear in Falmouth Walking Carnival. We would like to encourage everyone to join us in their Picasso masks and stripey clothes for the parade which starts at Falmouth Rugby Club at 6 pm.

Have a go at making a bling edible hat in 'I'll eat my hat' on Thursday 14 August and then create big noses and glasses that you can nibble in 'I'll bit your nose' on Friday 15 August. Both workshops take place from 2 -3 pm. Finally, on Saturday 16 August from 11 am – 3 pm it's time for the grand sweet shop extravaganza - 'Sweetshop of words'. Sing a ditty, yodel a tune or maybe just eat your words but do wait to see the wam-bam-boozel finale explosion at 3pm!

All workshops and events are FREE and are open to children and adults of all ages. Part of Falmouth Art Gallery's 'Cultural Triangle Project' for 2014, supported by Heritage Lottery Fund.

Visitors will also be able to enjoy the gallery's current exhibitions 'The boy who bit Picasso' and 'Tall Ships'. Falmouth Art Gallery is open from Monday – Friday 10 am – 5 pm, admission free.
